the hundreds upon hundreds of Princetonians who in this Holiday Season have opened their hearts to others in contributing a record - breaking total of some $3,700 to the Thirteenth Annual Town Topics Christmas Appeal. On the threshold of a New Year, in a world wrestling with fears and grave doubts, it is gratifying to know that Princetonians in the space of 13 years have now given nearly $31,800 to caring for their own at Christmas. For their understanding generosity; for thinking twice of this community's "Forgotten Few"; for refusing to permit youngsters to remain behind the curtains of despair where tomorrow is all too often just another gray morning; these wonderful, wonderful neighbors of ours are our nominees for Princeton's hit its first million-dollar school appropriation . . . all in a good cause: two new schools in the Township on Riverside and John-son Park sites, both to be occupied the first school day of the new year.

1969 was "your move" year in the schools: B. Woodhall Davis announced his retirement for 1961 Mrs. Bertha Eisenmann resigned as Township superintendent and William Purcell took her place. John McKenna moved in to Mr. Purcell's place as assistant superintendent. . . Mrs. Dorothy Lummis became principal of Nassau Street replacing Chester Stroup who became Borough assistant superintendent.

Who gets the pie? . . . half of Community Gardens was turned over to the Township for recreation purposes and the School Board said it would like a piece, too, for a new school.

There was controversy in both municipalities. . . Donal MacNamara's Borough policy recommended examinations for merit promotions within the force, but when exams were held and promotions announced, there were rumbles of discontent. . . in the Township, the sewer problem prevented itself. . . state health officials reported widespread pollution and aroused citizens' contrived widespread discussion.

Politics. Township outnumbered the Borough for the first time in number of registered voters. . . It was Male, Sorenson and Walker in the Borough; Mount and Cook in the Township; the state's youngest Freeholder, Grace A. Garside, in Somerset and the state's first Corner in a long time, Melvin Tunin, winner of a long-unbroken written constitution. . . a question frequently raised during 1969: service forces (police, etc.) consolidation? . . . the possibility of joining the two school systems? . . . joint recreation and disaster control bodies were formed. . . "Traffic Pains." The state launched its first full-scale traffic survey in this area since 1953 . . . municipalities met to talk about that by-pass for Route 206 . . . P.M.I. opened new parking lots in midtown. . . new license plates, some old bumpers. . . newly appointed police chief Raymond Mondone started a campaign against jay-walkers. . . time ran out for the Friday night parking meter experiment.

The Thomas A. Powers, five of them, spent two weeks in a fallout shelter. . . the Ground Observer Corps was disbanded. . . Princetonians spoke to the nation on a CBS civil defense radio program. . . the Borough named five men to the new Fire Prevention Bureau. . . the Red Cross rejected consolidation with the United Fund.

A 1958 murder appeared solved when a suspect was indicted in the slaying of a Hamilton Township supermarket manager. . . and the thief who robbed The English Shop in 1964 was brought to the bar in 1969.

And Around The Town. The public library celebrated its 50th year and those Maxwell portraits were finally planted in battlefield park. . . the "Y" opened its swimming pool and the hospital planned to open its new practical nursing school. . . the "Tavern" became the "Inn" but remained the "Nass". . . and with the new name, came a new addition to the historic inn. . . RCA and Western Electric broke ground for important research structures. . . Food Machinery added to its plant.

Methodists and Christian Scientists built new wings for religious education. . . Trinity broke ground for its new chapel and Our Lady of Princeton announced expansion plans. . . the Jewish Center acquired a new Rabbi and the Jewish community in Kendall Park got a new Rabbi and a brand new Center building. . . First Presbyterians lost Dr. John Bodo and hoped for a replacement by 1960. . . A new congregation, Presbyterian, came into being in Kendall Park. . . and a new group, the Ethical Culture Society, came to Princeton. . . Methodists and First Presbyterians heard new organs. . . the Seminary heard a new president, Dr. James I. McCord.

A new dorm quadrangle and an eight million dollar engineering complex were announced for the University. . . Brooklaw Field was converted into 27 tennis courts. . . the Seminary bought land on The Great Road for expansion. . . Ten-acre Foundation also announced expansion plans. . . the Second Presbyterian Church revealed expansion plans that included a new building on The Great Road. . . but Rose Cottage bowed sadly out of the picture. . . the little building was condemned. . . It was a year, as it always is, of tragedy and near tragedy. . . five area residents lost their lives in automobile accidents. . . one child was drowned, another was saved from drowning by the cool head of a teen-age girl.

The community lost some valuable citizens, among them I. Russell Riker, Borough engineer; Allan V. Heely, headmaster at Lawrenceville; William J. Clarke, venerable baseball coach.

It was the year when a Kansas State prison inmate wrote Borough police asking for a job. . . the year the weather went wild, when a warmer winter was followed by a longer, wettest last waves on record, and a warm autumn that

BUDGET UP $100,000

For Borough Schools. A proposed budget of $1,507,730 for the school year 1960-61, was announced Tuesday by the Borough Board of Education. The budget represents an increase of $101,638 over that of the current year.

Almost two-thirds of the increase will be paid for by raises in tuition from sending districts, which will bring in $65,302 in additional revenue. The remaining $36,336, which must be raised by the Borough, is expected to boost the local tax rate for school purposes by approximately 12 points.

Main reason for the higher budget is the new teacher salary schedule adopted in November by the Boards of Education of both the Borough and Township. This budget reflects 50 percent of the proposed salary increase, with an additional 25 percent scheduled to be budgeted for 1961-62 and the final 25 percent in 1962-63.

In a statement issued at the time of the budget announcement this week, the Borough Board of Education said that both the Borough and Township boards felt that "the proposed salary adjustments were proper and necessary in order to attract and retain the quality teachers demanded by our community." Acceptance of the new salary schedule, the board added, would place both the Borough and Township "in a desirable position to obtain well-qualified teachers."

Hearing January 11. In addition to the teacher salary increases, the $100,000 increase in the school budget would cover pay raises for members of the secretarial, custodial and cafeteria staffs. Also included is $5,000 to provide for additional textbooks and school supplies and to compensate for the increased costs of these items. All other items in the new budget are the same as this year.

A public hearing on the new budget will be held Monday evening, January 11, at 8 p.m., in the Board of Education office in MUNICIPAL LEADERS: Borough Mayor Raymond F. Male (right) will begin his second two-year term Friday. R. Kenneth Fairman is expected to be re-named by his fellow Committeemen to continue as Mayor of the Township when that municipality's governing body reorganizes Friday afternoon at 4. (Story page 1.)

Princeton High School. All interested citizens are invited to attend. The budget will come up for approval by the voters at the regular school election, scheduled for February 9.

PETITIONS FILED

For Boards of Education. With the deadline of 4 this Thursday set for nominating petitions for boards of education, clerks have reported the following petitions received:

Borough. Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch and Mrs. Edna McCrohan, all incumbents, have filed their petitions for the February election. Mrs. Bernice Miller has petitioned to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Thelma Young, who resigned this year.

Township. The only petition received at press time was that of Mrs. Marion Epstein, an incumbent. The two other incumbents whose terms expire in 1960 are William E. Wilson, board president for the past three years, and John E. Dobbin.

Lawrence Township. Three incumbents, James H. Smith Jr., Walter A. Shelmot and Robert Immordino, have filed for reelection. Mr. Immordino was appointed this year to fill the place vacated by Dr. Russell Edmunds, who resigned. At press-time, there were no petitions for the one-year term created by the resignation of John P. Murphy earlier this year.

West Windsor. Mrs. Winifred V. Fischer's petition was the only one received at press-time. She ran unsuccessfully for a board vacancy last February.

ORDINANCES PASSED

On Zoning, Building. In an extra session held Tuesday night, Township Committee passed the amended ordinance amending the 1955 zoning ordinance and, following a lengthy discussion on plywood, the new building code.

The plywood question was posed by Howard Vermilya, 83 Alison Road, an architect, who challenged the code's half-inch — Continued on Page 4 forgot how to be cool and crisp... and an unusual white Christmas to polish it off.

Twilight and the Good Life. Two country clubs were proposed for Princeton and the county Arboretum opened its rustic gates.

McCarter Theater buzzed during the fall with an extraordinary number of productions, many of them brought to town by young entrepreneurs only a few years removed from The Three Bears.

Castro, Onassis and Kingsley Amis came to town... so did some Russians... the good life was slowed down for some Princetonians by a disastrous series of fires: Shelton Mothers and Mayne Wood suffered serious loss... a house, a cottage and a barn burned... but no lives were lost.

plywood sheathing requirement which was defeated by Joseph Shinn, Township building officer. Mr. Vermilya said he thought five-sixteenths inch plywood was enough. The ordinance was passed with Committee member Stanley Smoyer recommending that the plywood requirements be re-examined.

William H. Cherry, 21 Dempsey Avenue, questioned the zoning change in the Snowden Lane-Princeton area from one and one-half acres to three-quarter acres, suggesting that the change might benefit an individual developer rather than the Township as a whole.

In reply, Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman said that the Planning Board had recommended the three-quarter designation so that development could proceed in an orderly manner. Most of the lots are irregular in shape and impossible to develop individually, Committee member John Mount pointed out.

NO DRIP-DRY FOR CARS!

Residents Protest. About a dozen highly articulate and indignant residents of the Bayard Lane-Leigh Avenue area appeared Monday night before the Township Zoning Board to express their opposition to a car-wash installation planned by Mike and Tony's Service station.

The opposition, heated and verbal during the meeting, exploded afterward into near violence with flying fists, but Township police, conveniently stationed at their desks downstairs from the meeting hall, prevented violence.

The installation, denied by the Zoning Board, would have been built behind the station in a residential zone. Spokesmen for the new enterprise told the Zoning Board that an average of 100 cars a day would pass through the "wash," with about 250 on Saturdays.

Pasquale Rossi, 129 Leigh Avenue, who lives across the street from the proposed car-wash, told Zoning Board members that Leigh Avenue is much too narrow to accommodate additional cars. He said that he has trouble getting in and out of his driveway on the one-way street as it is.

Louis Leight and Alphonse Leight, owners of the gas station next to Mike and Tony's, also expressed their opposition, basing it on the line-up of cars which they said would be inevitable.

"It would be like a stabilized sign," Louis Leight said. Alphonse Leight told the Board that sewers in the area are inadequate to begin with and that the water flooding into them from the washed washed cars would be just too much.

Michael Perna, of Mike and Tony's, produced a petition with some 100 names expressing approval of the car-wash. The addresses were challenged by Frederick Porter, 20 Birch Avenue, who said most of them were outside the Leigh-Birch-Bayard area.

At the addresses were read, Anthony Rossi, 118 Leigh Avenue, rose from the rear of the hall. "You read my address, but I never signed that petition," Mr. Rossi said. "I'm against the car-wash—whose name is that next to my address?" Zoning Board Winter was offering a good deal of everything, but not much of it was good. Last week's five-inch snowfall was followed by fog-filled days and nights, after which came back-to-back rain — and then a touch more snow.

Thereafter, the sun came out after an absence of a whole week. Despite the bleak surroundings, it gave notice of plans to stay around for a while and greet the New Year. Fine, thought, the Weather Man agreed, hoping with the rest of us that the forecast for a generally clear weekend would stand up.

members told him the name was "Flory Rossi."

"Flory?" said Mr. Rossi, "That's my nine-year-old son!"

Mr. Perna explained heavily that the petition had been left on his desk for customers to sign and the Rossi boy must have seen it there.

ACCIDENT REPORT

Weather a Major Factor. Slippery and fog-shrouded streets resulted in a larger number of accidents than normal during the past week, although none of the collisions were serious.

A three-car accident Wednesday night was the first in the series. George Clawson, 29 Kendall Road, Kendall Park and Mrs. Anna Rosso, 212 John Street, were on Witherspoon Street waiting for a light to change when Alexander Evers, 71 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell, rammed the rear of Mrs. Rosso's car. She suffered injuries to her neck and back, was taken to Princeton Hospital and released after being treated. Mr. Evers, who sustained a bloody nose, was issued a summons for careless driving.

"MARY STUART" SCHEDULED
By Dana Attractions. Dana Attractions Inc. will present the National Phoenix Theatre production of Schiller's "Mary Stuart" on February 12 and 13 at McCar-ter Theatre. The play, which will be the first full-scale professional drama at McCarter in two years, will star Eva Le Gallienne and Signe Hasso.

The play, dealing with the historical conflict between Queen Elizabeth and Mary, Queen of Scots, was adapted by Jean Stock Goldstone and John Reich. It is being presented nationally by the National Phoenix Theatre and Sol Hurok. The cast also includes Staats Cotsworth and a company of 12.

Tyrone Guthrie will direct, with sets and lighting by Donald Oenslager and costumes by Alvin Colt.
When "Mary Stuart" opened in New York, Brooks Atkinson labeled it "triumphantly theatrical" and commented: "It is a tale of giants, calculated to make the theatregoer sit on the edge of his seat."

Following its current tour, the production will play a return engagement on Broadway. Tickets now available by mail from Dana Attractions and will be on sale at the University Store on Monday.

THE FLAMBOUSE

The Miracle (December 30-January 5), a new screen adaptation of the well-known play first produced in 1911, is lavishly produced in Technirama and Technicolor. The excellent cast includes Carroll Baker, Roger Moore, Walter Slovic, Vittorio Gassman, Katina Paxinou and Dennis King.

The story, originally set in the early Eighteenth Century, has been updated to 1812 apparently to enable the scriptwriters to insert some topical references to Napoleon's invasion of Spain.

Ballet Espanol Rebooked

The Celebrity Series will open its spring program with a return performance by Roberto Iglesias' "Ballet Espanol" at McCarter Theatre at 8:30 on February 1. The company of 20 Spanish dancers appeared in Princeton last fall.

Joyce Grenfell will present a one-woman show at 8:30 on February 6, while the Weavers, a folk-singing quartet, will appear at 8:30 on February 27.
The series will continue with the first Princeton appearance of the Vienna Choir Boys at 8:30 on April 1.

Tickets will be available at the University Store or by mail. Prices and application instructions are given in the advertisement on this page.

no one is aware Miss Baker has run off.

But run off she does, to an in-

Miss Baker is ready to return to the director.

Dahl and Diane Baker) reflects this indecision.

Bonnie, who slips in a song once in a while in his distinctively expressionless haritone, is the protégé of Maxon, an Edinburgh geologist who wants to go to the center of the earth. They set out for Ireland (the year is 1880) to descend a volcano crater. Before they set foot in the mountain, however, they meet Miss Dahl, the recent widow of a Swedish professor who wanted to beat Maxon to the project, and a local duck-bender (Peter Roman) who has a purportedly humorous duck named, inevitably, Gruttridge. Once everybody has introduced himself, the foursome makes the descent, only to find that Thayer David, who killed Miss Dahl's husband, is already down there. The tip, with its wild caverns, subterranean monstrosities and sunken cities, is photographed brilliantly in CinemaScope and color and is fascinating, although it partakes more of fiction than of science.

Unfortunately, there's the singing and all that cops-and-robbers nonsense with David to muddy things up. Toward the end, David captures and eats the duck, which establishes his complete villainy without question and makes inevitable his eventual horrible demise, and a couple of love interests spring up. In spite of all this, the sunken cities and magnetic storms are worth seeing.

THE GARDEN

"Hound-Dog Man" (December 31-January 2). Legend has it that The Fabulous Fabian (that, so far as we can determine, is the half-dressed young gentleman's complete and natural name) was lounging in his back yard one day, a clear-eyed and unambitious 15-year-old, when an agent approached and asked him how he would like to be a rock-and-roll star. "Me? A rock-and-roll star?" joked The Fabulous Fabian. "Why, I can't sing a note." "You'll do fine," the agent smiled, and the firmament patted to accept the new arrival.

GRIGGSTOWN

Apparently to insure himself against the premature demise of his recording career (what with the payola probe and all, it's getting more and more difficult to get disk jockeys to play records by people who can't sing), The Fabulous Fabian is making his film debut in "Hound-Dog Man." Since his reaction to the suggestion that he should be a movie star seems to have been similar to his reaction to the legendary record agent, 20th Century-Fox and producer Jerry Wald have surrounded him with Carol Lynley and Stuart Whitman, two of Hollywood's more promising children. The story, in CinemaScope and color, is all about hound dogs and girls and growing up and stuff, and The Fabulous Fabian gets a chance to unsing six songs.

The Mirror Has Two Faces (January 5-9) is an interesting French product (with English titles) about an ugly young wife who is transformed by plastic surgery into a beauty. The change, which represents all she has most desired, brings about sweeping differences in her life with which she is emotionally unprepared to deal. Featured roles are played by Michele Morgan, Bourvil, Gerard Oury and Ivan Desny and the performances are excellent.

East of Eden (January 4) is one of the two major pictures (the other: "Rebel Without a Cause") that were chiefly responsible for creating the preternatural aura which surrounds the late James Dean. Produced in CinemaScope and color in 1955, the John Steinbeck story concerns the attempts of a moody and sensitive young man to establish identity in a seemingly unfriendly and unsympathetic society. Others in the superb cast are Julie Harris, Raymond Massey, Richard Davalos, Burl Ives and Jo Van Fleet. Recommended.

Reply to Mr. Kendall.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

I am making public the following reply to the letter in the December 24th Town Topics written by Herbert J. Kendall, President of the Drakes Corner Corporation.

"Your letter to the Editor of Town Topics of December 24, 1959, questioning the judgment of this Health Officer, with regard to the extension of sewers on Heather Lane, requires consideration on your judgment of the assessment of this particular health need."

"The New Jersey State Department of Health Bureau of Public Health Inspection in June of 1959. This study was conducted upon the request of this Local Health Department through the office of the Commissioner of Health, when conditions requiring the opinions of experts in the field of public health were necessary in order to arrive at some practical and feasible solutions."

"Enclosed please find the report that was submitted by the State with regard to all the areas in question and especially the one which concerns you, Heather Lane. I am sure that you will find that the information which you have, regarding the overflow of septic material is entirely erroneous, and that the extension of sewer lines was not a judgment made by this local Health Officer."

Sanitary Inspector First Grade
Acting Health Officer

PEACE IN OUR TIME—AND FOREVER? The chances for a lasting peace were bolstered, many Princetonians felt, by President Eisenhower's 11thation, good will trip overseas. Jimmy Wallace (left) believes that the present peace is just a sometime thing, and that in 10 to 20 years the world will find itself embroiled in World War III. Ernie Pignon speaks for all peace-loving people in saying that another war "just wouldn't be worth it." To see what other Princetonians think about peace and its chances for staying with us, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: This is a time of "peace on earth, good will toward men." What do you think are the chances for a lasting peace today?
Where asked: Vivinity of Post Office

Lois Demarest, 23 Murray Place, Nassau Inn room-clerk: I think they're pretty good because President Eisenhower has travelled all over the world to promote reception he has gotten would indicate that the countries he visited want peace. If everything works peace, we'll have it.

Gerald Fadden, 238 Harrison Street, accountant: I hope they are good only because I don't want to believe otherwise. From the recent news events, there seems to be a warning of the world's problems, especially with Russia, anyway.

Mrs. Justin Vollbrecht, 58 Cleveland Lane, housewife: I think they look rather remote. I believe that we'll have peace only as long as our enemies know that to start a war would mean world-wide destruction. We are a long way from the peace of Christ.

Harold L. Eldridge, 139 Jefferson Road, salesman: For the immediate future, it looks good. Things can change but chances for peace look better at the moment than they have in years. The world leaders have been able to sit down and discuss their problems, let's trip abroad. I think has done a lot toward promoting world peace.

Mrs. A. G. Graam, Carter Road, housewife: I don't think it's too hot. Human nature being what it is, I don't feel there can ever be a lasting peace. I certainly hope there is but I have my doubts.

John Ferns Jr., 25 Greenview Avenue, taxi driver: With the two leaders, President Eisenhower and Khrushchev, meeting some time next Spring, I guess that is a sign of peace right there. Shows we're getting somewhere.

Mrs. James Gubling, Ridgely Road, housewife: I think in view of President Eisenhower's unprecedented tour, the chances for peace are better than they have been in 25 years.

Clyde Oldenbrants, Princeton Inn, waiter: I think they are poor. I say that because the economic condition is so confused and the political situation is so befuddled that peace is dubious.

Mrs. Claire Miller, 172 Nassau Street, nurse: When I think of the effort that President Eisenhower is putting forth, I believe the chances for peace are much better today.

David White, 124 Quaker Road, student at Brandeis University: If the present unbending stand of the foreign ministers is unmitigated, the chances for any lasting peace are nil. Adversary's unwillingness to bend on German reunification is an example. With Germany such a potential military and economic power, this problem must be solved amicably if there is to be peace. A lasting co-existence between Russia and this country is the only real possibility for world peace in the near future.

Mrs. Peter Gross, Pretty Brook Road, housewife: I think the chances are very good. The threat of annihilation by nuclear warfare is too great, I feel there may be small skirmishes and constant ideological tensions, but I don't think there'll be an all-out war.

John M. Kennan, 12 Randall Road, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Princeton Township: Well, I think that under the current political situation in Russia and here, that the chances for peace are much better than they were a decade ago. I really think that there seems to be a willingness on Russia's part to approach political issues in a less militant manner than it did before. I just hope we have peace; I'm getting tired of war!

Mrs. Charles Parker Jr., Old Road, housewife: I think they're pretty good. Maybe I'm an optimist but I can't see how we can exist any other way. I'm sure we will find a way. The only way we can manage is to maintain peace.

Martin Sherman, Engineering Graduate Student, Princeton Graduate School: I feel that there will either be a lasting peace or nothing. The destructiveness of modern war has reached the point that the old patterns cannot continue. It's very hard to say what the chances are for a lasting peace. I just don't know.

Mrs. A. Sharpen, Ringoes, secretary: I think they're very good. Really, I believe that most all the countries in the world are aware of the danger of atomic bombs and nuclear weapons enough so that it forces us all to be careful.

Jimmy Wallace, 194 Clover Lane, Princeton High School freshman: I think chances for a lasting peace are 50-50. I think what happens at the coming summit meeting this Spring might have a lot of effect on peace. I believe we need to be afraid of Russia because they are ahead of us in the space race and they have a lot stronger forces than we do. I think if they wanted to, they could take us over. I feel that there will be another World War. Not right away, but in another 10 to 20 years.

Ernie Pignon, 309 Snowden Lane, seventh grad, Valley Road School: I think there could be peace. I know that Russia isn't everybody to be Communists but that America would like everybody to have freedom. But I really don't think there will be another war because it would destroy everything and there wouldn't be anything left. It just wouldn't be worth it.

TOTAL LOSS: Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the old (1902) Lawrenceville School gymnasium in the early morning hours of December 23. Temperature that dropped to nine degrees made it harder for firemen from five companies in this area. Loss will run to several hundred thousand dollars, with no decision yet reached as to whether the building (used for intramural athletics and including a four-lane swimming pool) will be replaced. (Staff Photos.)

It's New To Us

- Continued from Page 7

The master appears, along with Braque, Chagall, Dufy, Leger, Matisse and Miro in a volume of original posters. The book is supposed to include all posters by all these artists, so it should last you a long time.

The New York Graphic Society has several magnificent new volumes, designed for almost any taste. There are Buddhist paintings, from ancient Japan, Matisse's Florentine frescoes, pre-Biblical paintings of Mexico and iconography from the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia.

Universe Books produces a volume on Van Meek with black and white lithographs and a colored one not previously reproduced. There's a two-volume exhibit of Balthus' drawings and a single volume of Picasso's drawings, 1900 to the present, this one from the Abrams publishing house.

Every known work of Marcel Duchamp has been included in Robert Lebel's book. There is even a statement by The Men himself, plus 50 photographs.

For people with a dollar to spend, The University Store has a stack of charming little French reproductions — Matisse, Matisse, and so on — each one about six by eight inches. Suitable, as they say, for framing.

SPORTS In Princeton

KAZMAIER WAS BEST
Named "Key Player of Decade," Dick Kazmaier, who holds the lion's share of Princeton's career records on offense, has been voted the Ivy League's "Player of the Decade" for the era that began in 1950 and ended last fall. Kazmaier also won the Tigers as they won three places on the all-star team selected for the same period, a feat equaled only by Brown (which has never finished in first division).

The choices were made by a committee of 21 sportswriters headed by The New York Times' Allan Danzig, Kalamazoo, who spearheaded the volatile attack that produced successive championship teams for Princeton in 1950 and '51, was the only unanimous selection.

The other Princetonians named are Frank McFhee, an All-American as a senior in 1952 and the last Ivy Princeton history; and Brad Glass, a highly durable guard who often played eye-catching football in 1954 and '55. The only Princetonian to place on the second team was tackle Iulio Donan '53.

The complete Ivy team of the decade:

Ends—McFhee (Princeton '53) and Paul Lepore (Yale '57).

Tackles—Jim McGuinness (Brown '53) and Jack Shanfield (Dartmouth '54).

Guards—Glass (Princeton '53) and Bill Mous, (Harvard '56).

Center—Dan Warburton (Brown '59).

Backs—Kazmaier (Princeton '52), Paul Ciochetti (Brown '60), Chet Bouira (Harvard '60) and Dennis McGill (Yale '57).

Selections of this nature are hazy at best, and the list of 21 writers included a few who haven't been in the Palmer Stadium press box more than once or twice in the whole decade. While it does not appear that any Princeton player was overlooked for first-team balloting, certainly the omission of tailback Royce Hight on the backfield on the second eleven was an oversight.

Princeton does, however, benefit by inclusion in the omission of its players from the second team—and from the annual all-star selections each fall, where it is rarely represented. That the Tigers stand far off in the cumulative win-loss records for the past decade is a tribute to overall balance and coaching ability, rather than an indication of the presence of a few superstars.

WINTER ROUNDUP Basketball Knee Begins, Cappy

We recognize our duty to the public. We sell the kind of coal that will give really dependable heat and add happiness to any man's heart. Our prices are right.

AT STARTING LINE: Captain Jim Brangan will lead Tiger quintet in first Ivy contest of season against Penn at Philadelphia Saturday night.

Capron's basketball team opens its Ivy League activities Saturday night in the Palestra with Pennsylvania. The Quakers have little last season, and could wind up in last place if Harvard doesn't get there first.

Two more road games are on tap before the home opener on January 13 with Pennsylvania. The Tigers will be at New Haven on Friday, January 8, to face a surprising Eli quintet and move on to Providence to face Brown the following night. (For results of this week's southern trip, see page 17.)

Hockey Team Heads North. Hopkey of returning the fine form it showed in its surprising 3-0 victory over highly-rated Boston University, Princeton's hockey team travels to upper New York state this weekend for a pair of contests against perennially rugged opposition.

Clarkson College, based in Potsdam, N.Y., but so loaded with Canadians that it has only four Americans on its squad, is the opponent on New Year's Day. The Golden Knights have a 4-1 record against highlight teams, including an 11-4 decision over Yale.

St. Lawrence will entertain the Tigers on Saturday at Canton, N.Y. Both teams are normally out of Princeton's class; the Orange and Black has not hosted Clarkson since 1951 and has lost all seven encounters with St. Lawrence.

The weekend contests will serve as an additional measuring stick of the Tigers' resurgence this winter. They'll be home Wednesday night for an 8 o'clock game against St. Nicholas Hockey Club and will open their Ivy season the following Saturday with Brown.

BOWLING NOTES

Shelton Ties Deekers. With action in most leagues suspended for the holidays, Shelton Motors posted two victories last week to tie Deekers at 62-41 in the "A" loop at Princeton Recreation Center. Runners-up are Hult's Shoes (58) and Farr Hardware and Farmers (52 each).

Physics (58) added six triumphs to leap ahead of Matterhorn B and C & S A. (56 each) with two weeks of play remaining in the first round of the University Faculty League. Trailing in the tight race are Combined Operations and Matterhorn A (54 each) and Machine Development (52).

In the Mixed League, the Roses and the Wheelers are knotted at 23 wins apiece. Other pairs are the Hendersons (20), the Goldens and the Scieratis (18 each) the Fowlers (16), the Walkers (14) and the Klebers (6).

BUSINESS In Princeton

HOW'S BUSINESS?

"About the Same." Shop-keepers up and down Nassau Street and around the Shopping Center Mall report a generally satisfactory Christmas buying season. In an informal Towry Terrace poll, the replies to "How did business go?" range from "so-so" (a liquor store) to "excellent" (a clothing store), without question, (a clothing shop.)

Ledgers are still to be totaled, of course, and no definite figures are available, but one specialty shop was able to pinpoint business as 3 percent better in 1958.

"Last year was a good year," said one shop owner who specializes in expensive gift items, and this year was just about the same. "I could have been happier, I guess, but I wasn't unhappy."

The specialty shop reporting the 3 percent increase said that each year it has been in business has been better than the year before. A new store open for its first Christmas was pleasantly surprised with the number of people who came to buy.

"There was a little more bargaining this year," said a men's clothing store owner. "None of the usual spirit of who-cares-about-money-it's Christmas, but we did all right anyway."

Christmas shoppers started out earlier this year, said one store owner, adding that the shop had more out-of-town customers than before. Shoppers also kept going longer, apparently, because one appliance firm said that staying open the day before Christmas was "very profitable for us." This firm did very well on an over-all basis.

Two stores reported higher sales of expensive items than they had expected. One, a furniture store, sold more big pieces than small. But on the other side of the edge, another store said in the same store sold more small pieces than large.

The owner of a shop which sells things for children reported that sales figures had not been totaled yet, but that business seemed to be just like last year—which was very good indeed.

"I always judge the state of business," said this lady-behind-the-counter, "by my own physical fatigue, and things must have been fine this year because I'm just exhausted."

ARTIST JOINS STAFF

At Princeton Art Services, Frank Steward of Grovers Mill has joined the art staff at Princeton Art Services, 175 Nassau Street. Formerly a successful free-lance, Mr. Steward has handled assignments for various business firms in New York, Trenton and New Brunswick, including Shell Oil and S.H. Stamps. At Princeton Art Services, he will do layout, illustrations and finished work.

The addition of Mr. Steward to the staff is part of an expansion program under which the art service plans to offer a wider variety of art work based on the different styles of the firm's artists.

ROGER WILLIAMS EXPANDS

Acquires British Firm. The chemical market research organization, Roger Williams Technical and Economic Services Inc. of Princeton, has bought the British consulting firm of George Levi and Partners, London. Williams has conducted economic surveys for chemical, rubber and petroleum companies, as well as government agencies, since 1950.

With the acquisition of a Lon-

Industrial Unit Formed

Chairman of the newly-created Hopewell Township Industrial Commission is Fredrick R. Peterson, a Hopewell resident who is associated with Laidlaw and Company, Princeton. At a recent lunch, to which the Hopewell Township Committee and area industrial leaders were invited, Dilman M. K. Smith, a member of the commission and president of Princeton Research Park, spoke on the approach to publishing an area.

Others who spoke on the expansion of rattables in the township were Kenneth Williamson of Rockwell Manufacturing; Glenn Simmons of Western Electric; and Paul VanWegen, secretary of the commission and an official of the Stanny Brook-Millstone Watershed Association.

In discussing the development of the township, it was felt that quick growth should be avoided in order to retain the present character of the community, and that good roads and facilities for part-time higher education are important to light industry and research laboratories. The commission plans to hold similar meetings in the near future.

don office, at 7 Hanover Square, the company will be able to appraise the European market, using the same techniques of market research that it has employed in the United States.

SOCIAL SECURITY RATE 4 1/2%

Will Be 3% on January 1. Chris L. Gross, district director of internal revenue, has called the attention of Princeton employers to the increase in Social Security tax rates, effective Friday.

Wages paid on or after that date will be subject to a 3 1/2% tax, payable by both employer and employee, bringing the total to 6 1/2%. The rate until now has been 2 1/2%. The revised tax tables are available at the Trenton office of the Internal Revenue Service, and have been mailed to most employers in this area.
